THE NATION'S CHARGE

CROWDS VIEWING THE REMAINS.

There were no great throngs awaiting admission. Those who waited at 6 o'clock were not more than 1,000 persons. At six minutes past 5 the gates were opened. The first A person to view the remains was a spare but sweet faced little woman, who led with each hand a little boy. She was anxious that her gaze over the side of the casket and peer into | Siam if. The second was a man with a lunch roll in his hand and a pair of linemen's climbers slung over his arm. The line started allowiy and for the most part was unde up of laboring classes. The first minute only %4 persons passed. An old lady who was very fat strolled in. She caught a glimpse of the forsi pillow at the foot of the casket and adjusted her glusses to inspect it. A tall lean policeman seized her shoulder and hastled her along. People were harried through at the rate of 104 minute. A negro father with his little buy came in. The calld was too small to see, and the father lifted him so that he could, the hoy's toes bumping the dails, to the horror and anger of the bridge guard. The father and son were aided by the could be a little bridge and son were aided. slong the line with some vigor. A little brathinck with his box on his shoulder came along to see tien. Grant. His face shone and along to see tien. Grant. His face shone and his bair had been freshly wet and smoothed out at the fountain. Many women came too, and they caused delay. They must need examine every detail and put their noses to the flowers before they could be induced to move away. Men and boys with lanch baskets and dinner pails filed along. After T o'clock the laborers and working women had gone, and the clerks coming down town were stepping from the elevated and sorface cars into the stream that was running at the rate of 120 per minute. The police were reinforced at a o'clock, and at that hour there were 187 men on duty. The line moved faster under the surveillance of the augmented police force, and the guards at the coffin did not allow the people to halt. At $20 the line was passing at the rate of 150 a minute. For a short time the pace was increased to 170 a minute. This rate of speed comported ill with the dignity of the occasion, and more time was given; but the accretions were too rapid to be cared for, and the line of waiting people stretched out, until at 10 o'clock it passed the bend at the register's office and extended up Center street to Reade. It is estimated that from the time the icon gaies were opened this morning 6,000 persons passed by the casket every hour. At 6 this evening fully 10,000 persons were assembled in front of the City Hall, Printing House, square and the adjacent streets, while the double line extended as far as Broadway and Worth street. The police arrangements were admirable during the day. Little trouble was experienced in keeping the vast multitude in line. The verses written by Commissioner of Public Works Squires and placed by him in front of the City Hall last week were removed by order of Mayor Grace shortly after dusk this evening, and two draped American fings were hung in the vacuut pi ing the evening crowds continued to pass into the ball and file past the casket at the rate of 100 a minute. At 10 o'clock to-night fully 50,000 persons were in line waiting their turn to view the body.

At 12, midnight, the line of people waiting to view the body reached from the City Hall to Grand street, fully a mile. At 2:30 the police cut the line half way, telling the people in the rear portion that as the doors closed at 1 o'clock it would be useless for them to wait longer. At the time of closing the doors it was evident that 165,000 persons had viewed the General's face since it reached the City Hall last night.

CHURCHILL'S MAIDEN SPEECH. A Bitter Attack on Lord Ripon Creates

Anger and Disgust. London, Aug. 6.-The discussion of the Indian budget in the House of Commons tonight gave Lord Churchill occasion for his first speech in his official capacity as Secretary for India. Churchill adopted the usual course of sending to the reporters' gallery, beforehand, a synopsis of the argument he was about to make. The explanation of the budget was generally well received by the House, and the speech created a good impression at the start; but the introduction at the close of a brutal and actually scurrilous attack upon Lord Ripon, late Viceroy of India, gave rise to angry feeling and was met with unanimous expressions of disapproval, and even disgust. On the whole the young minister's speech may be said to have increased his unpopularity.

Honors in Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 6 .- A largely attended meeting of the G. A. R. was held to-night. It is estimated that combined the various posts of the city will send about 150 men to Gen. Grant's funeral. Resolutions were passed, urging the raising of a sum of money sufficient to erect a monument to the mem-ory of Grant "that would reflect the greatness of our late comrade's services, as well as the grandeur of the G. A. R."

FROM CAMP ALGER.

THE VETERANS AT GREENVILLE.

The Reunion Begins Auspiciously and But for the Rain Would be a

GREENVILLE, Aug. 6.-The second annual reunion of the sailors and soldiers of West. ern Michigan began here yesterday with fine weather and every prospect of a grand succoss. The city was profusely decorated with evergreens and bunting, and but for the fact that the flags are at half-mast and emblems of mourning are seen in all the decorations, it would present a gala-day appearance. The most prominent feature of the decorations is a beautiful arch over the main street. It is covered with evergreens and the word "Welcome" appears in place of the keystone. It is surmounted by a stack of army muskets with a cannon on either side, and from the center hangs a portrait of Gen. Grant appropriately decorated.

The camp is handsomely located in a meadow slightly elevated, nearly a mile ger, in honor of our Governor. It is supplied with the tents and utensils used at the encampment of the Michigan State troops and some of the G. A. R. Posts have tents, tin dishes and cooking utensils of their own. The citizens' committee made very gener-ous provisions for the comfort of the veter-ans, the commissary arrangements especial-ly being all that could be asked for and much better than was expected by people who are not acquainted with Greenville hoswho are not acquainted with Greenville hos-pitality. The rations are dealt out in real military style to the G. A. R. Posts, but there is plenty for all and all are welcome whether soldiers or citizens, members of a Post stragglers or contrabands. The veterans be-gan to arrive early in the morning, some coming as G. A. R. Posts in companies and many in sunads or singly without organizamany in squads or singly without organiza-tion. Comrades of the bone post had been at work Tuesday in pitching tents, erecting cooking shanties, etc., but most of the fore-noon was spent in putting the camp in order. Colonel C. O. Jenison is in command, with the following staff: Lieutenant Colonel, D. the following staff: Lieutenant Colonel, D. H. McComas: Major, Charles E. Belknap; Adjutant, E. H. Gibson; Surgeon, John Avery, M. D.; Inspector, C. C. Ellsworth; Quartermaster, A. J. Cole; Commissary, A. H. Bennett; Sergeant Major, E. Rodgers; Bugler, Charles O.; Bronson; Q. M. Sergeant, Wm. Bradley; Commissary Sergeant, Wm. Deary; Chaplain, Rev. J. L. Patton; assistants, Rev. G. D. Lee and Rev. M. E. Haynes, Aides, Captains Geo. W. Turner, F. M. Hecox, Caleb Griffith, J. S. Chase, F. T. Dennison, T. N. Stevens S. Chase, F. T. Deunison, T. N. Stevens and Wm. R. Griffith. Chief of Staff, Past Commander Colonel Daball.

Guard was mounted at 10 a. m. Governor Alger arrived at 11 o'clock, and was received with a sainte of twenty one guns. After dinner more time was spent in putting things to rights, visiting etc, until dress parade at 5 o'clock, when Governor Alger delivered a short address. Governor Alger delivered a short address. His remarks were very appropriate for the occasion and were received with applause, especially his allusions to the comicalities of the soldier's life. He gave the veterans some excellent advice, urged all to affiliate with the Grand Army and punctually attend the meeetings of their posts. Had heard and was sorry to say that 20,000 comrades had been dropped from the rolls in the past year for non-payment of dues. This is wrong and should not be allowed. If a comrade is not able to pay dues the Post should remit for non-payment of dues. This is wrong and should not be allowed. If a comrade is not able to pay dues the Post should remit his dues, or comrades who are able should pay for him. It is every soldiers duty to be a member of some in Austrian uniform, greeted them warmly, all exchanging kisses. After tea Emperor William gallantly offered to escort the Emperor need help for himself. He congratulated the comrades that the State of Michigan was about to provide a home for the poor soldiers, and in a measure atone for the disgrace of having allowed some of them to find homes in the poor-houses. He advised the veterans to keep sober and pay strict attention to orders and show that they had not forgotten the respect for discipline they learned in the army. Some might feel that there should be no restraint at such a time as this; but he thought they would feel better and have more respect for themselves if they obeyed orders and acted as manly soldiers. For supper 1,300 rations were issued, and it was estimated that at least 1,500 veterans sere on the grounds in the afternoon. Many of them living near here drove home or went home on the evening trains. The even-ing was spent in recounting reminiscence-and holding regimental reunions around the

camp fires. This morning opened bright and clear, and the morning trains brought in a large number of veterans and many citizens. Farmers from the surrounding country with their wives and children helped to swell the throng, and at 10 o'clock at least 8,000 people were on the ground. Gen. Cutcheon and Congressman Tarsney arrived at 10 o'clock. They were extorted from the depot to the camp by Wabuno Post and the Peninsular Band of Mt. Pleasant. This post is one of the strongest in the State and was named after an Indian volunteer of the Seventh infantry New York on the 5 o'clock train this after-noon. The General expressed himself as much gratified at having an opportunity to are here. One, Marcus Otto, carries an empty sleeve and says he left his arm in the "Wilderness." The feature of the morning was the prize drill by G. A. R. Posts, in which the M. W. Dressler Post, of Portland; Quackenbush Post, of Owosso, and the St. Johns Post, competed. The first prize, a beautiful picture of President Lincoln, was awarded to the St. Johns comrades, and the second prize, a bronze clock, went to the Quackenbush Post. For the benefit of the posts who are not armed prizes were offered for the best uniformed post. The Ionia post took the first prize, a gazel made from the Andersonville prison stockade, and the second, a picture of Gen. been in America but six weeks. The grand parade, which was to have oncurred at 1.30 p. m., would have been a grand affair had not the rain, which had been threatening since 10 o'clock, begin to fall just as the column was ready to move. It was then decided to hear the crafton in Price's Rink, and the procession was started down fown through the rain. It was led by the Greenville division Knights of Pythias with the city band, followed by eight Grand Army Posts, seven brass bands, five martial bands, squade of Grand Army men and vet-Francisco entirens in carriages. Notwithstanding the rain and mid the column moved through the middle of the streets, with moved increase the models of the streets, with the bands all playing. It was a grand eight when remaind from under cover, but was pratty rough on the musicians, especially the indust of the Grand Ledge band. The rink, which is a large one, was soon filled, and thousands were obliged to wek shalter elsewhere. Colonel Jerison called attention and read a letter of regret from General McCletlan, which was gree cheers. He stated that Generale Sherman, Sheridan, Logan, Vilas, Weaver, and others, had sent letters regretting that they could | General of forces.

not be present, but the letters had been left in camp, and as the rain was coming down in torrents it was decaded not to send for them. Cheers were given for the Generals, and the Colonel introduced Mayor Morgan, who delivered an address of velcome. Major C. C. Ellsworth responded on behalf of the veterans. Then tien Cutcheon delivered an eloquent oration, and was followed by Congressman Tarsney with an interesting speech.

The rain continued all the afternoon and the evening trains were crowded with people who went home. Many were obliged to remain, however, and if the rain ceases the camp ground will be well filled to morrow. A business meeting will be held at 8 a. m., followed by the election of officers of the Association. The shain battle between the Blue and the Gray, which with good weather would have been a grand feature, will probably be postponed for a year owing to so many of the veterans having left the city.
